

THE LEITRIM SLAUGHTER.

BORONEE'S INQUEST ON THE BODIES OF THE MURDERED MEN.

[From the Dublin Irish Times.]

The following magistrates were present:—Captain Peel, R. M.; Captain Stokes, R. M.; Captain Smith, Captain Batt, John H. Swiney, Edmund Mansfield, Samuel Spragg and T. Batt, R. M.; Fauning, Deputy Inspector Gurney; County Inspector Carr, Sub-Inspectors Bailey, Croghan and McGuire, and Captain Dopping (Lord Leitrim's agent) were also present. Mr. Martin, Sessional Crown Solicitor, attended on behalf of the crown; Messrs. McCusky (Dublin) and Crawford McCay (Derry), solicitors, appeared on behalf of next of kin of Lord Leitrim; Mr. McCay, also, on behalf of the next of kin of Meekan; and Mr. Mackey, solicitor, Hamilton, on behalf of the next of kin of Meekan, the driver.

THE POST-MORTEM.

The post-mortem examination having concluded

Dr. J. N. Osborne, and William Dunlop

severally as follows:—We have examined and made a post-mortem examination of the body of William Sidney, Earl of Leitrim, which was found at Millford, on the 24th instant, on the back, in a state of rigor mortis.

There were two large contused areas from the venereal column, opposite the fifth dorsal vertebrae on the left side; about nine inches on the back, and about thirteen inches on the inner part of the left side. The area on the back was lacerated, the edges being torn, and the coat

about the margins of the wound.

He rejoined with equal warmth, and when Little's spirit was fairly aroused he slapped her in the face.

At this the woman burst away from him, flung a chair between them, and said: "Moore, you have been badly hit, and I will call the police." And so she was hemorrhaging from the left ear; then wounds appeared to be caused by one of the members of the party. They were all on their feet now, and several of them had struck one another.

Charles was upset, glasses were smashed, and in a moment there was a regular "free fight."

PISTOLS AND BEER.

A BARTENDER FIRES INTO A GROUP OF QUARRELLING CUSTOMERS—THREE MEN WOUNDED.

Paul Bauer's saloon at No. 25 Bowery was on Saturday night the scene of a scuffle in which pistol practice was indulged in with a cool indifference to results and a recklessness of aim that was well worthy the revolver-resounding ranches of the West. At a table in the place a group of men sat drinking. There were among them John Hanon, no. 167 Thompson street; Thomas J. Burke, no. No.

159 Cherry street, and Maurice Moore, who is more familiar to Bowery denizens as "Molive" Moore.

The whole party were in a high state of hilarity when a woman strolled into the place. She was Little Logan, and with the exuberancy peculiar to her class she took a chair and drew up to the table.
